Operation Principle

First of all MP3 music files will be removed from the memory and read the memory signal to the decoder chip → decode the signals → solution will be adopted by the DAC digital signal into analog signals → then converting the analog audio amplification → After low-pass filtering to the headphone output, the output is after we have heard the music.